Hello

You started at the beginning, which is impressive. I usually start in the middle, and never read introductions. It's surprising that I've made a book because I'm not good at reading them. The truth is I need pictures, they are like islands, places to get to in a sea of words.

This book is for everyone, whether you are eighty or eight - I feel like I'm both sometimes. I'd like it to be one you can dip into anywhere, anytime. Start in the middle, if you like. Scribble on it, crease the corners and leave it well thumbed.

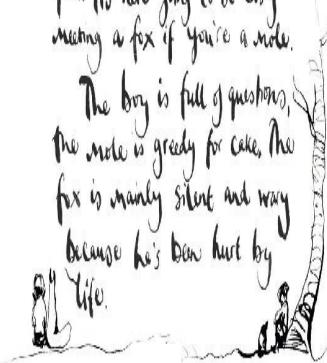

The drawings are mainly of a boy, a mole, a fox and a horse. I'll tell you a little bit about them - although I'm sure you'll see things here that I don't, so I'll be quick.

The boy is lonely when the mole first surfaces. They spend time together gazing into the wild. I think the wild is a bit like life - frightening sometimes but beautiful.

In their wanderings they meet the fox. It's never going to be easy making a fox if you're a mole.

The boy is full of questions, the mole is greedy for cake, the fox is mainly silent and wary because he's been hurt by life.

The horse is the biggest thing they have ever encountered, and also the gentlest.

They are all different, like us, and each has their own weaknesses.

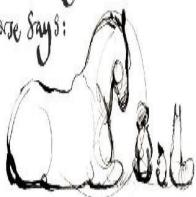

I can see myself in all four of them, perhaps you can too.

Their adventures happen in Springtime where one moment snow is falling and the sun shines the next, which is also a little bit like life - it can turn on a sixpence.

I hope this book encourages you, perhaps, to live courageously with more kindness for yourself and for others. And to ask for help when you need it - which is always a brave thing to do.

When I was making the books I often wondered, who on earth am I to be doing this? But as the horse says:

"the truth is everyone is winging it."

So I say spread your wings and follow your dreams - this book is one of mine. I hope you enjoy it and much love to you.

Thankyou, Charlie X

Charlie, Richard and Helen for some a few, whose conversations and love are so part of these pages. X

Thanks to Colm the brilliant Irishman who helped sew this book together often late into the night.

Thank you to everyone at Penguin;
Gail, Joëlle, Tess, Becky, Lucy, Alice, Rae, Beth, Nat, and especially Laura who so kindly coped with me and my messy drawings.

And thank you so much to you on social media who encouraged me with everything.

Thank you Sara, Daisy and Christopher
